CITY OF INDIANAPOLIS BEGINS TO INSTALL STREET SIGNAGE FOR SUPER BOWL XLVI

Signs Aim to Help People Easily Move Around Downtown

INDIANAPOLIS –The Indianapolis Department of Public Works (DPW) announced today it has begun installing more than 50 Super Bowl route signs that will help motorists navigate around the downtown area during the period of Super Bowl XLVI street restrictions in effect from January 19th to February 6th.

As part of the “Know Before You Go” program, the signs will provide travel information, including highlighting the orange “Super Route” and the blue “Bowl Route” and alerting motorists to changes in traffic and street conditions. Access to parking lots and garages will be maintained, but many of the parking meters in the area near Georgia Street, Monument Circle and Lucas Oil Stadium will not be available. Installation of the signs will occur over a number of days leading up to the January 27th opening of the Super Bowl Village and the NFL Experience.

Before motorists begin their trip downtown during this time period, the City recommends they become familiar with the “Know Before You Go” program found at www.indianapolissuperbowl.com under the Transportation and Parking tab. The site includes an interactive parking map, information on downtown street restrictions and recommendations on getting to, from and around downtown.
